

APPENDIX M

Exchange Interface Reference

Live Auction Bid Chart — Market Activity Ticker — Analytics Dashboard

*DCXchange.net — A TooziT LLC Platform
Confidential — For Informational Purposes Only — Patent Pending*

This appendix presents the DCXchange.net exchange interface as a rendered display reference. The following page shows the platform's three primary market display components as they appear to a logged-in participant: the Market Activity Ticker running across the top of the interface, the Live Auction Bid History Chart for an active auction listing, and the Market Analytics Dashboard available to Professional and Institutional tier participants.

All data shown is illustrative sample data for display purposes only. Actual platform data will reflect live participant activity. The interface layout, chart types, color scheme, and information architecture shown are representative of the production platform design.

For a full description of the strategic purpose, data sources, technical infrastructure, and tier access rules governing each display component, refer to Appendix L — Real-Time Market Activity Display and Exchange Analytics.

INTERFACE COMPONENTS SHOWN

Interface Component	Description
Market Activity Ticker	Horizontal scrolling display across the full platform interface showing new listing publications, live auction bid events, and recently closed transactions in real time. Visible to all verified participants on every page.
Live Auction Bid History Chart (Panel 1)	Real-time line chart on every active auction listing showing bid amount over time. Updates via WebSocket connection with each accepted bid. Displays Reserve Met threshold, auto-extend markers, active bidder count, and countdown timer. Visible to all registered auction participants.
Analytics Dashboard (Panel 2)	Nine data visualizations showing aggregate platform market intelligence — instrument category distribution, geographic heat maps for both supply and demand, price benchmarks, listing volume trends, auction activity, days-on-market distribution, performance status composition, and fractional listing activity. Available by subscription tier as specified in Appendix L.

The interface mockup on the following page is formatted in landscape orientation for maximum display fidelity. It is suitable for single-page printing, presentation slides, investor deck inclusion, and licensing demonstration packages.
